- Literacy- As we finish up our last unit for Benchmark Literacy, we are going to be spending the last few days reviewing our strategies and reading expectations to practice over the summer! Look for information regarding summer reading fun, next week!
- Phonics- Tricky letters in words- /y/ and /q/, we will be learning about rule breakers!
- Sight Words- review of kindergarten words and additional high frequency words
- Writing- Writing advice to next year's kindergarteners and letters to 1st grade teachers
- Math - This week, we are going to finish our last unit for Everyday Math. We will learn about the $10 bill, practice telling time to the hour and half hour, and work on writing our numbers.
- Science- Next week, we will learn about what happens when we add items to water. One of the lessons is all about bubbles! Hopefully, we can end the week with good weather so we can have some bubble time outside!

HELP!

Only kind of:) Over the next 12 days, we are going to try to send home a few items each day so the last day of school doesn't mean bags and bags of stuff to drag home!

Please make sure you are checking backpacks and folders at night to help us with our clean up process:) THANK YOU!

Next Week's Lunch Menu

Tuesday- Cheese Sticks
Wednesday- Chicken Tenders
Thursday- Pancakes
Friday- Pork Patty on a bun

We are always in need of iTunes Gift Cards so we can add to our classroom apps!
